

SparringEDC nóż treningowy

We present to You a training knife that is actually fit for sparring – SparringEDC by StreetSafe. Almost all the training knives You can buy in stores are too hard and they can break fingers or ribs, others are too soft they do not hold shape and make training unrealistic.

Description

It took us 3 years of experimenting with different designs and testing them in springs to come up with SparringEDC. It combines quality EVA foam, 3 types of cover fabrics, strings and some silicone glue put together in a very precise way so that it protects Your hand but will also bend on a hit so that Your partner will not get his bones shattered. SparringEDC is hand made with emphasis on quality, solid grip and universal size. In other words, if You would like to safely spar with knives, this is a product You were waiting for.
